

ONE
OF A
KIND

LEGENDS 2016

Blown Away

“Our modern-day Marie Antoinette holds court in an homage to the classic Maxell ad from the 1980s. Except this time, it’s the stereovision textile patterns that have her nearly losing her head.”

PRESENTING DESIGNER: Christina Karras >

Christina Karras

WITH OVER 15 YEARS of experience as an interior designer, Southern California-based Christina Karras, has created quite a substantial and distinctively soulful body of work. Previously Christina had worked in the exotic world of avant-garde photographers and toured as a performance artist for Bill Graham Productions, an unconventional lifestyle that shaped the way she thinks about art, beauty, and space. It is her interpretation of these inspirations that combines a unique mix of Laurel Canyon bohemian chic and a soulful rock n’ roll edge to the spaces she designs. CHRISTINAKARRAS.COM

@Christinakarras

Christina Karras

CREDITS: LCDQ MEMBER IN BOLD>

MARC PHILLIPS:
9' x 12' Persian area rug with a modern design influence in shades of hot pink and neutrals
CHURCH BOUTIQUE
Mannequin's Wardrobe

CHRISTINA KARRAS:
Corbusier-inspired chair
Circa 1970's floor lamp
Large Circa 1970's stereo speaker
Mannequin model
Custom side table

Textiles from the Christina Karras collection
Riser: 50" deep x 8.5" length, 24" in height
Mural from the Christina Karras Wall Covering Collection - Art by Stella Karras
Mannequin's wardrobe accessories and gown train

/lcdqla #LCDQLA